time required to issue patents. The culture of innovation is taking centre stage in the country. India is well poised to focus on R&D. This has been reflected in its improved ranking in Global Innovation Index over the years. Government's effort to strengthen National IPR policy, IP appellate tribunal, e-governance and commitment to abide by the TRIPS agreement of WTO in letter and spirit will help in improving perception of India globally. An efficient and equitable intellectual property system can help all countries to realize intellectual property's potential as a catalyst for economic development and social & cultural well-being.

The webinar created a great impact on the entire audience. Audiences were taught on how IPR restricts copying others ideas and how this will help the development of new ideas for the betterment of the society. Audience also learnt how IPR provides total control over a new innovation and its creator. The audience were also given a platform to discuss how small innovations influence societies at large and how they should indulge in innovating and patenting ideas that will be useful for all the classes of individuals in the society.

The webinar was very informative, interesting and interactive. Mr. Praveen, Assistant Professor, CSE proposed the vote of thanks. There were a total of 191 participants (170 students and 21 faculty members).

Day 1:

Agenda:

Welcome and Inauguration.

Introduction to the theme of the session.

Theoretical and calculative approach towards the usage and maintenance

Practical Explanation about Solar panels and various measuring devices.

The programme commenced with welcome and inauguration of the session. The Head of the department has addressed the gathering and introduced the honourable resource person, Mr. Purushotham Chary and his experience in various fields with Greenvion Energy Technologies.

Later, Mr. Purushotham Chary took over a highly interactive session on the usage of solar energy in various parts of the world in many ways. The session was truly an eye-opener for the students towards the perfect usage of energy. The collection of statistics and analysis took the session to the next level. The presentation integrated lecture delivered with the main idea of preparing the students for the most awaited practical session. The display and analysis of the solar panels with theoretical calculations boosted up the interest and understanding abilities of the students towards solar photovoltaic systems. The handing over the solar panel equipment to the students with various measuring devices such as pyranometers helped the students a lot towards a practical approach. The session made the students clear what they are actually going to execute and experience with all the procedures and precautions explained. The session has the most satisfactory closure under the guidance of Mr. Purushotham Chary and the department members.

Day 2:

Agenda:

Explanation of the positioning and circuit of solar photovoltaic systems.

Kickstarting the practical session.

Assembling the equipment.

Conduction of the experiments.

Recording and analysis of the data.

The most awaited and interesting session has finally commenced with the basic planning, positioning and assembling of the solar photovoltaic systems. The experiments are to be made under the scorching heat of the sun. The whole team lead by Mr. Purushotham Chary and the department staff, made this possible with necessary precautions and practical approach. The students are successful in adjusting the position of the solar panels with the virtue of the latitude. The assembling and analysis segment worked out efficiently with care. The output data was recorded by the students with appreciable accuracy. The practical session was a grand success with the cooperation of the students and the members of the department. The satisfaction and enthusiasm were clearly visible in the eyes of the students.

Outcomes of the workshop:

After the successful completion of the workshop, the students will be able to

1. Understand the design concepts of solar photovoltaic systems.
2. Calculate the design parameters of PV Systems.
3. Understand the positioning and assembling of the solar photovoltaic systems.
4. Analyse the designing and positioning of solar PV Systems.

Certificate ceremony was conducted, where the resource person was honoured by a memento by the Head of department and students were awarded with a participation certificate. On behalf of management, staff and students, workshop co-ordinators, Mr.P. Rajinikanth and Mrs. A. Archana have expressed their gratitude towards Mr.purushotham Chary, Mrs. Y.Mastannama, and the members of department for conducting such a great session for the means of practical experience.

Workshop On Coding Practice

27:41

Dynamic Programming

Dynamic Programming is a general algorithm design technique for solving problems defined by or formulated as recurrences with overlapping sub instances.

Main idea:

- set up a recurrence relating a solution to a larger instance to solutions of some smaller instances
- solve smaller instances once
- record solutions in a table
- extract solution to the initial instance from that table

Expecting them to teach more hands-on sessions like these. Want them to teach more number of different problems which we'll encounter in usual coding exams. Different approaches to solve single problem if time is given and then asked for doubts it would have been better rather than sir explaining it while we're doing. As it's tough to concentrate on both the things.

The sessions may include few points that can be beginner friendly to understand the concept explained further.
