Summary:

According to the job role, verbal reasoning tests are used by some recruiters to find out the potential of a candidate and their learning capabilities from their past work experiences. These may be less complicated in some cases but may also increase in difficulty depending on the management level of the job you have applied for. In a less complicated verbal reasoning test, you may be asked to complete various sentences and analogies that employees commonly use in a work environment.

On the other hand, the complex ones may include reading and comprehending a piece of text or information provided, thinking about the information on logical grounds, drawing conclusions accurately, and finally conveying the results to others in an understandable yet professional manner. These are some common activities generally expected of the employees working in a business organization that need to be done in an effective and professional manner.

Below are some basic attributes that recruiters may evaluate in candidates through appointing a verbal reasoning test. Moreover, they may put as much significance on this one as they usually do in numerical reasoning tests.

- Students ability to pin-point issues from business manuals and company reports, logically come up with conclusions as to how these may be taken care of or eliminated.
- Students ability to work on business reports, collateral and documents that are easily understandable at all levels.
- Students ability to convey and articulate any problems in the organization or its processes in order to bring it to the concerned committee.
- Students ability to decide how positively an issue may be resolved or the possible solutions at hand.

Finally, both numerical reasoning and verbal reasoning tests may provide some useful insights into your professional competency to determine the likelihood of hiring you for the vacant job position you have applied for. Candidates who are not competent enough to take up a certain post may fail in these tests and lose their opportunity to appear for the interview, which is usually followed by these tests. To express yourself as the perfect candidate and to make the recruiter think that you are genuinely determined to get this job role, your test answers should show the amount of time you have spent in preparing for it. A poor score may ruin this impression that you are trying to create on your prospective employer.

The students were very co-operative and enthusiastic to learn. We would like to thank the Placement Department and the Management Team Methodist College of Engineering and Technology for giving us this opportunity.

Summary:

According to the job role, verbal reasoning tests are used by some recruiters to find out the potential of a candidate and their learning capabilities from their past work experiences. These may be less complicated in some cases but may also increase in difficulty depending on the management level of the job you have applied for. In a less complicated verbal reasoning test, you may be asked to complete various sentences and analogies that employees commonly use in a work environment.

On the other hand, the complex ones may include reading and comprehending a piece of text or information provided, thinking about the information on logical grounds, drawing conclusions accurately, and finally conveying the results to others in an understandable yet professional manner. These are some common activities generally expected of the employees working in a business organization that need to be done in an effective and professional manner.

Below are some basic attributes that recruiters may evaluate in candidates through appointing a verbal reasoning test. Moreover, they may put as much significance on this one as they usually do in numerical reasoning tests.

- Students ability to pin-point issues from business manuals and company reports, logically come up with conclusions as to how these may be taken care of or eliminated.
- Students ability to work on business reports, collateral and documents that are easily understandable at all levels.
- Students ability to convey and articulate any problems in the organization or its processes in order to bring it to the concerned committee.
- Students ability to decide how positively an issue may be resolved or the possible solutions at hand.

Finally, both numerical reasoning and verbal reasoning tests may provide some useful insights into your professional competency to determine the likelihood of hiring you for the vacant job position you have applied for. Candidates who are not competent enough to take up a certain post may fail in these tests and lose their opportunity to appear for the interview, which is usually followed by these tests. To express yourself as the perfect candidate and to make the recruiter think that you are genuinely determined to get this job role, your test answers should show the amount of time you have spent in preparing for it. A poor score may ruin this impression that you are trying to create on your prospective employer.

The students were very co-operative and enthusiastic to learn. We would like to thank the Placement Department and the Management Team Methodist College of Engineering and Technology for giving us this opportunity.

As per the notification from the Google Developers about the Google Cloud Career Practitioner Campaign, the Cloud & DevOps team lead Dakshita Paithara had to nominate someone from our college or the club to be the facilitator for the campaign, and she selected Omer Fauzan of the Cloud & DevOps team. He filled out the facilitator form on 14th October and received the official mail that he was chosen as the facilitator on 21st October. All the facilitators from different colleges were trained for 3 weeks under the guidance of Google developers.

And as per the instructions only 100 people were allowed to register for the campaign, for which the applications opened from 4th November to 10th November. From our college 108 people applied from which 98 got selected and others got rejected due to incorrect details. The selected 98 members were sent the access codes on the 14th of November. 81 students redeemed their access codes and got enrolled in the campaign. All the applicants were in touch with the team via WhatsApp group and were notified of all the updates via email.

On 16th November, we kickstarted the campaign with all 98 members receiving emails regarding the session. During this first session the lead Maaz Mohiuddin discussed what the cloud is, the way it is impacting the businesses, which are the top cloud providers, how it has changed the computing and scalability of businesses, where and why the cloud is used. Later, it was continued by the facilitator Omer Fauzan, discussing different roles in cloud like cloud engineer, cloud architect, he also discussed about certifications, gave the tour of google cloud platform. He then talked about what this campaign is all about, its agenda, how it will benefit them and then all the attendees were demonstrated how to redeem their access codes, and get enrolled in the campaign, he shared the course syllabus and discussed best practices to make the most of the session. Finally, the event was wrapped up with a quiz.

On 29th November, session 2 of the campaign was hosted in the Python lab, D block, which was the first offline event of the club. The event was successful with 79 students attending the session, wherein Maaz Mohiuddin first gave a quick refresher on cloud computing, and the characteristics of cloud computing and then the Cloud & DevOps team started with Google Cloud. They discussed IaaS, PaaS, and SaaS, Virtual machines, cloud functions, and different storage types. Introduction to Compute Engine, Containers, Kubernetes, serverless computing, identity, and access management were also given. Then an interactive quiz was held by Maaz Mohiuddin in which 45 members participated and the top 3 winners were given a prize as a token of appreciation. Finally, the session concluded with a Q & A session, and the team guided the students who were not able to redeem their access codes.

The third session was conducted online on 9th December. This session went longer than expected as the Cloud & DevOps lead, Dakshita Paithara walked through the first 4 courses from the Cloud Engineer Learning Path. Omer Fauzan and Mohammed Khubaib continued the session and completed two labs from these courses. This session was hands-on which allowed the learners to do simultaneously along with the speaker. Getting started with cloud marketplace, VPC networking, storage in the cloud, containers in the cloud, automating, and deployment of infrastructure using terraform were a few of the many topics discussed during this session. The session ended with the lead, Maaz discussing about the projects which will be done during the end of the campaign if a college fulfills all the requirements. He discussed the procedure of those projects, how it will help in the final year projects and so.

Session 4 was conducted in the seminar hall, D block on 14th December, started by the lead Dakshita who encouraged students to participate in events, suggested that they should take advantage of this campaign and reminded them of the campaign's deadline, and discussed different tiers and the rewards we get if we complete the requirements by the deadline. The session was then continued by Mohammed Khubaib, who demonstrated how to do the quest: creating and managing cloud resources. Another quest, performing foundational tasks in Google Cloud was taken up by Omer Fauzan. Students got an idea on how to perform the quests and navigate through the Google Cloud platform.

To conclude, this campaign was a great start for students to learn about cloud computing and have a hands-on experience with the Google Cloud Platform. We received a great response from the juniors, they are actively participating in the events and are following the course. The facilitator, Omer Fauzan, and the entire team of Cloud & DevOps handled the sessions brilliantly and they made sure to answer all the queries whether both online or in person. All the sessions conducted really build enthusiasm among the students, we plan to conduct many such events in the future, to expose students to newer opportunities and tech stack.

ABOUT GOOGLE DEVELOPER STUDENT CLUBS

Google Developer Student Clubs are university-based community groups for students interested in Google developer technologies. Students from all undergraduate or graduate programs with interest in growing as a developer are welcome. By joining a GDSC, students expand their knowledge in a peer-to-peer learning environment and build solutions for local businesses and communities. The GDSC program is a grassroots channel through which Google develops skills for employability. GDSC activities target university students and others including faculty members who want to learn development skills & work to solve real-life problems.

GDSC opts to shape student developers for a better future. It is open to any student, ranging from novice developers who are just starting, to advanced developers who want to further their skills. It is intended to be a space for students to learn and collaborate as they solve problems.

GOOGLE DEVELOPER STUDENT CLUBS MOTTO

Connect

Meet students interested in developer technologies at your university. All are welcome, including those with diverse backgrounds and different majors.

Learn

Learn about a range of technical topics and gain new skills through hands-on workshops, events, talks, and project-building activities - both online and in person.

Grow

Apply new learnings to build great solutions for local problems. Advance your skills, career, and network. Give back to your community by helping others learn, too.

BENEFITS OF GDSC

In today's fast-growing world, technology is changing every second. It is almost impossible to stay upgraded about the technical advancements coping with the university curriculum. This is where GDSC can come to the rescue. GDSC aims to bridge the gap between theoretical and practical knowledge for student developers. It opts to provide students with the resources, opportunities and, experience necessary to be industry ready, all while still pursuing their degrees.

Below listed are the benefits developers will be getting by joining a GDSC:

- This club helps students to grow as developers.
- It gives them access to Google technology and platforms at no cost. The cost of a good online course is hefty and not everyone can afford it. So, by joining a GDSC, students get access to newer technology free of cost.
- Any student cannot be a good developer if they cannot solve real-world problems. GDSC aims to solve real-world problems using the knowledge being shared in the sessions. The entire GDSC team aims to build prototypes and bring solutions to local as well as global problems (GDSC Solution Challenge).
- Through in-person and virtual meet-ups, university students are empowered to learn together and use technology for the betterment of society.
- Students also develop their public speaking skills and leadership skills by participating in the sessions.
- Google Developer Students Club not only focuses on students of the Computer Science and Engineering branch but also on students of other branches.

In a nutshell, Google Developer Students Club focuses on bringing the best out of students who are always eager to learn something new and make them ready for today's industry. We, as engineers, have a responsibility toward the development of society. Being a member of GDSC, one gets the guidance to fulfil their dreams of a better tomorrow.

Faculty Advisor

A faculty advisor guides students to empower and build community and work on ideas, knowledge, skills, and technology. They act as a bridge between the college management and the student community. They help in organising and collaborating for events on and off campus with ease.

For the Google Developer Students Club at Methodist College of Engineering and Technology, from the esteemed members of the teaching faculty, Mr T PRAVEEN KUMAR was selected as the faculty advisor by the Computer Science and Engineering, Head of the Department, Dr P Lavanya.

Due to the strong zeal and enthusiasm of both the faculty and students to improve the student community, Google Developer Students Club was established for the first time at Methodist College of Engineering and Technology.

Under his leadership and guidance along with the support and cooperation of CSE HOD, GDSC MCET successfully organised 20+ events both in offline and online/virtual mode and impacted over 500+ students from not only Methodist College of Engineering and Technology but also from other local and international colleges.

The primary aim behind the inaugural event was to make the students aware of the fact that the college has established a technical club for everyone to help them reach their goals, in finding the right approach, to give a platform for their ideas, and create a positive atmosphere in the student community.

After the inspiring speeches, Miss Amima Shifa, the lead of the GDSC introduced the club and gave a brief about its goals, team structure, roles and future prospects. And then the stage was taken up by the Team Lead of Mobile App Development, Mr Preetham Kasturi who shed a light on how apps play an important role in the developing world, how we can create those apps, followed by the agendas of the team and how it will be beneficial for students.

It was then proceeded by Mr Abdul Moid Khan Mohammad, the lead of the web development team talking about how websites are important no matter how small the field of work can be and how you can make your presence felt with websites and how they will help students in making websites that will meet the modern needs.

Followed by the lead of the AI & ML team, Mr Pininti Sreekar Reddy spoke about how AI has changed our lives and how students can build their careers in that particular field. Then, Mr Hemanth, the lead of the Competitive Programming team took over to explain what competitive programming is, where it is used and how his team will help the student community to get into the field.

Taking the event forward, the Cloud and DevOps team lead, Mr Gursimar Singh gave insights into what Cloud & DevOps actually means and what will be its value in upcoming years. And then the most awaited moment came when Miss Dakshita Paithara and Mr Mohammed Abdul Basith, members of the Cloud & DevOps team shared the wonderful news of 30 days of Google Cloud program where the students can expand their cloud domain knowledge and can gain rewards for doing so, they also spoke about what the program will be about and how it will take place. In the end, Miss Spoorthi, the head of the editorial section of the PR team, extended a vote of thanks and expressed her gratitude to all the college faculty and the student community for making this event a success.

VALUE ADDED COURSE

Name of the Program : Devnet Associate

Syllabus:

1. Software Development and Design : Compare data formats (XML, JSON, and YAML). Describe parsing of common data format (XML, JSON, and YAML) to Python data structures. Describe the concepts of test-driven development. Compare software development methods (agile, lean, and waterfall). Explain the benefits of organizing code into methods / functions, classes, and modules. Identify the advantages of common design patterns (MVC and Observer). Explain the advantages of version control. Utilize common version control operations with Git.
2. Understanding and Using API: Construct a REST API request to accomplish a task given API documentation. Describe common usage patterns related to webhooks. Identify the constraints when consuming APIs. Explain common HTTP response codes associated with REST APIs. Troubleshoot a problem given the HTTP response code, request and API documentation. Identify the parts of an HTTP response (response code, headers, body). Utilize common API authentication mechanisms: basic, custom token, and API keys. Compare common API styles (REST, RPC, synchronous, and asynchronous). Construct a Python script that calls a REST API using the requests library.
3. Cisco Platforms and Development
4. Application Development and Security: Describe benefits of edge computing. Identify attributes of different application deployment models (private cloud, public cloud, hybrid cloud, and edge). Identify the attributes of these application deployment types. Virtual machines.
5. Infrastructure and Automation: Compare controller-level to device-level management. Compare and benefits of CI/CD pipeline in infrastructure automation. Ansible, Puppet, Chef, and Cisco NSO. Ansible playbooks, management packages, user management related to services, basic service configuration, and startup). Identify the workflow being automated by a bash script (such as file management, apt install, user management, directory navigation), Interpret the results of a RESTCONF or NETCONF query, Interpret basic YANG models, Interpret a unified diff, Describe the principles and benefits of a code review process, Interpret sequence diagram that includes API calls

6. Network Fundamentals: Describe the purpose and usage of MAC addresses and VLANs, Describe the purpose and usage of IP addresses, routes, subnet mask / prefix, and gateways, Describe the function of common networking components (such as switches, routers, firewalls, and load balancers), Interpret a basic network topology diagram with elements such as switches, routers, firewalls, load balancers, and port values, Describe the function of management, data, and control planes in a network device, Describe the functionality of these IP services: DHCP, DNS, NAT, SNMP, NTP, Recognize common protocol port values (such as, SSH, Telnet, HTTP, HTTPS, and NETCONF), Identify cause of application connectivity issues (NAT problem, Transport Port blocked, proxy, and VPNs), Explain the impacts of network constraints on applications
