Name of the Program: Pulwama Soldiers Attack

Date: 08/03/2019

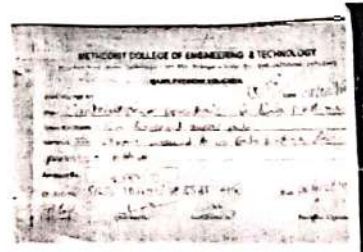

Venue: College Campus

On 14 February 2019, a vehicle-borne suicide bomber attacked a convoy of buses carrying Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) security personnel on the Srinagar-Jammu national highway at Lethpora (Pulwama district), in the militancy-ridden state of Jammu and Kashmir (India). The Fidayeen attack led to the deaths of 40 CRPF personnel and the attacker. The Pakistan-based Islamist militant group Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM) claimed responsibility for the attack. In informal murmurings in Indian security circles, this Fidayeen attack has been branded as "nabhuto, nabhavishyati" (something that is unprecedented and is not likely to repeat itself ever). The immediate fallout of the attack led to a flare-up between India and Pakistan and both countries, in a span of few days, were almost on the verge of a full-fledged conventional war, after the Indian air strikes on the JeM training camp of Balakot (Pakistan). Some strategic experts even feared the most dreadful scenario of an escalation to a nuclear exchange. Eventually, an unexpected chain of events that included the downing of a Pakistani F-16, the unconditional release of an Indian pilot by Pakistan, and the Pakistani Prime Minister Imran Khan's emotional peace overture prevented the escalation and brought a quick-fix peace in the world's most militarized flashpoint. However, things are still not entirely smooth between India and Pakistan. With India's Prime Minister Modi making loud proclamations of retaliatory strikes, and with intense cross-border firing going on, fears of either a deliberate or an accidental escalation still loom on the horizon. The recent flare-up between India and Pakistan looks like a game-changing event in South Asia. The geopolitics of South Asia has changed in real terms. Gone are the days of status quo and classic strategic restraint, exercised by India. The uniqueness of the current face-off needs to be analyzed to forecast some future geopolitical contours of South Asia. Let us begin with the incident itself. The most disturbing feature of the Fidayeen attack is that a local Kashmiri boy was indoctrinated to volunteer as a suicide bomber. The local version of Islam in Kashmir is very liberal, and local youth are unlikely to volunteer for ISIS-like suicide bombings. It demonstrates that the Kashmiri militant movement has drifted far away from a separatist political campaign and is currently entangled in the grips of Islamist jihadi extremism.

From Methodist College of Engineering and Technology NSS cell organized an event of raised funds for soldiers died in pulwama attack on 8/3/2019, Faculty and students from different department contributed amount of Rs. 6000/- ( six thousand rupees only) to their families in the form of cheque on the name of army officer Mr.G.Bala Krishna.

Benefits of an Energy Efficiency Awareness Program In addition to reducing energy consumption and saving money, a well-planned Energy Efficiency Awareness Program can yield other benefits,

To become truly energy-efficient, your organization must make basic changes in the way your employees behave, in the technologies you adopt and in internal policies and procedures. These changes do not have to be drastic or costly, but no single change can deliver maximum savings. Benefits are maximized when a combination of technological, behavioural and organizational changes are implemented simultaneously with support from senior management.

NSS volunteers have participated in "Energy saving awareness programmes" on the occasion of engineering day. Principal, Director and HOD of all department have attended the session along with 49 students (NSS volunteers).

Summary report

Road Safety Awareness program was organized at our college premises on 24.08.2017 at 10:30 am with more than 360 students and 30. The dignitaries who shared the session were the Mr RaghavaRao and Mr.SrinivS Rao Traffic Inspector and sub-Inspector of Police Abids. The session was very useful for students, focusing on the safety measures to be followed while riding.

The program was started by Welcome address which given by Director Prof Laxmipathirao and the speech delivered by the was Mr RaghavaRao very informative and he provoked the undeniable truth that "each one's safety is in their own hands" as well on the importance of a how precious each one's life is.

Mr.SrinivS Rao mainly focus on several measures have been undertaken by the students for the safety of the travellers on road:

- Seat belt wearing is an important rule for the people traveling in the front seat of the four wheeled vehicles. Heavy penalties have been levied in certain states for the people who violate the rule. This is a major safety measure taken by the government. The wearing of the seat belt reduces the risk of major injury if accident happens and surveys have proved the fact.
- Two wheeled vehicle drivers have to wear helmets and failing to do so can lead to heavy penalty. Measures are taken by the government for the benefit of the people.
- Use of cell phone while driving is prohibited. But hardly people try to follow the rule sometimes. To prevent this, preventive measures like fine payment has been levied on the citizens who are found driving and talking on the mobile simultaneously.
- Red light jumping and no lane driving is another hazard in maintaining road discipline. This is the reason why the government has taken the measure of penalty payment of red light jumpers.
- Over speeding also leads to punishment and many people end up paying fine for the same. The students were very much enlightened by his motivating speech because at this age we ride for fun.

Almost 350 students along with NSS programme office and faculty members participated in this event

Summary report

The National Energy Conservation Day is celebrated every year on December 14 since 1991. The Bureau of Energy Efficiency (BEE), under Ministry of Power spearheads the celebrations every year.

Energy is a key driver for the Indian economy, and a prime enabler of diverse sectors such as manufacturing, agriculture, healthcare and railways. A burgeoning population and rapid growth of economic activity also demonstrate the need for reliable, affordable and quality power. With demand for energy matching the pace for India's GDP growth, along with surging energy prices for both commercial and household consumers, reduction in energy intensity is a critical need. Given the importance and significance of the issue, India's standing on energy sustainability measures could be stronger.

NSS volunteers are participated in "Energy saving campaign" on the occasion of the National Energy Conservation Day. Principal, Director and HOD of all department have attended the session along with 39 students (NSS volunteers).
